This is a gratifying exhibit of two weeks' work and one of which the people of St. Louis may well be proud. The amount conwill prevent much keen suffering among the homeless and will relieve the distress of hundreds of destitute refugees who are penniless.

There is every evidence that the destitution and misery have been rather underrated than exaggerated. Reports from the South than exaggerated. Reports from the South-ern rivers indicate that the flood in those regions has been followed by consequences quite as disastrous as in the American Bot-In any event there will be ample use for all the contributions that may be and charitable people are urged not to abate their efforts in the good cause.

Restored. The river continues to subside gradually. To-morrow it will be below the danger line-32 feet. It has been beyond that mark twelve days, a longer period than it ever has been for a quarter of a century. There is a grad-ual restoration of business along the front. retreating flood is leaving banks sticky mud behind it. of soft, sticky mud behind it. Then there is the drift debris. There are rafts of it along both shores of the river. Steamboatmen are having less inconvenience. The regular landings are now in service. The Levee is being washed off and will continue to be until the river reaches its natural confines, which it will do in less than a week. An odor that would almost penetrate a brick wall rises up in vaporous clouds from the cellars along the Levee. Sanitary precaution is desoft.

along the Levee. Sanitary precaution is demanded to prevent malarious and other epidemics. In a couple of days the Knapp Stout & Co. company will put a force of men at work strengthening up 7,000,000 feet of lumber that was toppled over on Bremen avenue. There will be an expense here of $12,000 to $15,000 which will be a total loss to the company, because there is no insurance to cover such possible rises.

The Farmers' Elevator, at the foot of Clinton street, which has been closed down for some time because of the flood, will resume to morrow.

Railroad Traffic Resumed-Water Four The situation has greatly improved here since Saturday. A fall of nearly two feet in the waters of the Cahokia has taken place in the past forty-eight hours, and the waters of the Cabokia has taken place in the past forty-eight hours, and since the flood reached its height and turned it has lowered not less than four feet, all in ten days. The fall of the past two days has made a great change in the railroad situation. All passenger trains enter and leave the city on their own tracks now, with the exception of those of the Mobile & Onio, which still run on the Cairo Short Line. However, the break in the Mobile track is cutside of East St. Louis, and the stage of water here has nothing to do with the condition of the track. Work has been partly resumed in the Wabash yards. The lower yard is now in good condition, but the upper yard is now in good condition, but the upper yard is still inundated. Freight trains are being dispatched from the lower yards now. The engines of this road, which were sent to St. Louis during the flood, have been returned to this side. This is now the only road that has not the complete use of its East St. Louis yards. In the yards of all the other roads work is progressing regularly.

The flood is gradually receding from the vicinity of the National Stock Yards, and the two large packing-houses there, the Whittaker and the East St. Louis Packing & Provision Co., will probably resume this week. The Nelson Morris beef cannery resumed last week.

The Air Line embankment resisted the strain put upon it east of Tenth street Saturday night and is still intact. There is now little likelihood of a break, as it was clearly shown Saturday night that the embankment would withstand any pressure to which it might be subjected.

The relief committee rested yesterday, having provided for all the needy to be found on Saturday, giving each family sufficient provisions to supply their wants for several days. Work was resumed by the committee to-day, however, and a score or more of needy families were provided with the necessaries of life during the forencon.

To-Morrow Night's Concert.

A grand concert for the benefit of the flood sufferers will be given in Music Hall, Exposition Building, to-morrow evening by the St. Louis Ladies' Choir, the Orpheus Saengerbund and the St. Louis Musicians' Association. The orchestra will include hored and 100 string instruments. The programme is made up of the very best selections from the most popular and classical composers. The promotors of the charitable enterprise are especially proud that they have included among the numbers "Das Feuer Kreuz," or "The Fiery Cross." Max Bruch's prize cantaia. The action of the plees relates to a practice of the ancient clansmen of Scotland of consecrating a wooden cross in the blood of a sheep offered in sacrifice. Red with the blood of the sacrificed victim the Fiery Cross was carried from clan to clan by a messenger of noble birth. The story is familiar to all who have read Walter Scott's "Lady of the

> A Dramatic Treat in Prospect Denman Thompson has always been a gen erous man. The Dramatic Society of St. Malachi's Church has just got his consent e the "Old Homes to produce the "Old Homestead" for the benefit of the sufferers by the flood, and the performance will be given Monday night at the Grand Opera-house. The Dramatic Society is composed of young ladies and gentlemen who have given promise of great ability on the stage, and the performance will rank high among amateur exhibitions. "The Old Homestead" with its pathos and sentiment, is just the right play for the occasion. The house will be filled to the fund of the Post-Dispatch.

Prot. Mooney Volunteers a Benefit. Prof. Mike Mooney has volunteered to give benefit performance this week for the flood ellef fund. Prof. Mooney will donate the use of his gymnasium hall, supply the talent and tickets and in fact everything connected with the entertainment, so that the entire receipts will go to the flood sufferers. The exact date of the exhibition has not yet been decided. Prof. Mooney will himself. spar four rounds with anybody at the benefit.

to Carondelet. One hundred men are at work repairing the damage to the Cairo & Conlogue railway and it is expected that the road will be in shape by Thursday. The water has receded sufficiently to permit of traffic about the little hamlet of East Carondelet and to-day a large gang of men were put to work on the Rock road to have it in good condition by Thursday so that the Carondelet ferry can resume business. The major part of the town is still under water and steps are being taken to drain it off. This morning five farmers, representing the farmers of East Carondelet, met at Judge Meegan's office and presented credentials that they represented the farmers of East Carondelet. They gave their names as J. F. Adlesburger, Chairman; L. F. Mund, Edward Ulrich, John Lutton and Fred Kohm. Saturday night the farmers held a mass meeting and elected these gentlemen as a committee to Call on Judge Meegan, Chairman of the Carondelet Flood Relief Association, for the purpose of procuring seed, wheat, grass, potatoes, etc. The committee presented the claims of the distressed farmers and reported that 8,000 acres of good farming land was entirely destroyed. Judge Meegan will present the claims to the Executive Committee this evening. It is said that seed, etc., will be forwarded without delay.

The water that has hooded a number of manufactories in the South End is receding rapidly, and by the latter part of this week a resumption of work may be looked for.

Mrs. O. A. Haynes contributed a large bundle of clothes this morning for the sufferers. The Carondelet Eaptist Sunday-school children raised $2.36 yesterday and donated it to the flood relief fund.

THE RIVERS.

Floods Subsiding-A Bad Outlook for Farmers.

ALTON, Ill., May 80.—The high water here is rapidly receding, and the factories and mills that have been stopped are preparing to begin operation again. Several of the glass factories are already at work. SLOWLY RECEDING.

VIRGINIA, Ill., May 30.—The waters on the looded districts, north of here, known as Sangamon bottom, are slowly receding. The Illinois River at Beardstown, and the Sangamon at Chandlerville, are also slowly failing. There is yet a large farming district along said rivers entirely submerged, but the rains are beginning to let up in this section and are beginning to let up in this section and the farmers are taking courage anew and are hopeful of an average crop. Acting upon orders from Gov. Fifer, the Secretary of the state Board of Health, Dr. F. W. Riley telegraphed our Mayor regarding the flood sufferers, a few days since, offering assistance, but the Mayor replied that our district needed no aid, as all the farmers are in comfortable circumstances.

HEAVY RAINS.

CARTHAGE, No. May 30 — Lest night the CARTRAGE, Mo., May 30.—Last night the heaviest rain of the senson fell here. In ow lands houses swamped. On the sout side of the square restaurants and billiard halls had nearly 8 feet of water. Spring River is out of its banks and is still rising, and reaches out nearly a mile. No serious damage is reported from heavy winds. At Pleasant Valley mines all operations are suspended as the water is beyond control.

FARMERS DISCOURAGED. GREENFIELD, Ill., May 30.—The farmers in this section of Illinos are putting forth a great effort to get their corn crop in the great effort to get their corn crop in the ground, and many have succeeded in planting from ten to twenty acres, but most of them are thoroughly discouraged at the present prospect for a corn crop. Wheat in this district is heading out, and farmers think their harvest will be on about June 15, with a prospect for a good crop of hay and wheat.

A CLOUD-BURST. OLATHE, Kan., May 80,—Last evening about so'clock this section of the State was visited by the heaviest rain storm that has come in many years. Reports from the southern part of the county say that it developed into a veritable cloud-burst and an enormous quantity of water fell in a very short time, washing away fences and converting small streams to raging torrents. Several head of cattle were drowned near Spring Hill.

WHEAT WASHED OUT.

MOUND CITY, Kan., May 80.—The heaviest rain storm that has ever been experienced in this part of the State fell last night and flooded every creek and rivulet in this part of the country. No serious damage has been done, but the wheat was washed out of the ground in many places and the farmers say they will be compelled to replant the acreage into corn.

PRESIDENT HARRISON AND PARTY THE GUESTS OF ROCHESTER.

Every Tomb, From the Lowliest to the Mightiest, Receives Its Tribute-Patriotic Addresses Delivered by Distinguished Orators-The Glorious Deeds of Fallen Heroes Recounted-Their Memories Kept Green.

Rochester, N. Y., May 30.—May 30, 1829, will ever be Memorial Day in the history of Rochester. Never before has it been so crowded, and never before has it entertained so distinguished a company. Public and private business was suspended and everybody took a holiday. It is estimated that fully 200,000 people took an active part in the various demonstrations of the day. Of this number, nearly 100,000 came from the surrounding country. The President was enthusiastically received everywhere and was compelled to bow his acknowledgments to almost centingus cheering. The weather was bright and fair. The features of the day were made even a voice to represent them."

Disappointment was on every face early this morning, for the weather was cloudy and threatening and rain fell generally at Interval, but later the sun broke shrough the clouds and there was nothing to interfere with the patriotism, in his skill as a general. "The City of Fiags" is a far more appro-priate name for Rochester at present than the old name of the "City of Flour." The buildings along the principal streets are floating thousands of figs and countless yards of bunting and it is safe to say that never in the history of the city have such elaborately beautiful decorations been made for any previous event. Not satisfied with decorating their houses with flags, the people everywhere wore them in their breasts and placed them on horses and vehicles.

The President and Governor and other dis-tinguished guests arose early and had broak-fast at 8 o'clock at Ontario Beach, to do which a nine mile ride in an electric car was necessary. A large body of gayly decorated bicyclists followed the car as an escort. On arriving at the beach the visitors were welcomed by the public and parochial school children of Charlotte, who sang patriotic airs. Breakfast was enjoyed at the Cottage Hotel and a visit was made to Con Greenies's farm on the West Bhiff. Upon returning to the city the President and Governor held a public reception at the Fowers Hotel, lasting from $0.80 to 12 o'clock, and they were kept busy shaking bands during the entire time. which a nine mile ride in an electric car was

In conclusion he said:

What, then, do we owe to the heroism and self-sacrifice of the men whose devotion we commemorate to-day? We owe it to them that, while in other lands the flower of youth is consument of earlier and the flower of youth is consumed in enforced military service, the young men of America can devote their unbroken manhood to the pursuits of industry. We owe it to them that, while nearly one-half of the total revenue of Europe is expended unour the maintenance of armies and nayins, with the perpetual dread of invasion and war in the hearts of the people, we enough the consumy and quistende of present and anticipated peace. We owe is to them that when the glad spring beings forth her tribute of flowers at offerings to the nation's dead a sense of universal brotherhood prompts us to forgive the treason atomed for by vallant death and to piace a wreath

Amid a profound silence Gen, Reynolds then introduced President Harrison, who spoke at some length, its, was followed by Gov. Flower, who also spoke. Hon. C. R. Parsons then presented the monument to the care and keeping of the city.

WASHINGTON, D. C. .

WREATHS STREWN ON THE GRAVES OF THE NA TION'S DEAD. WASHINGTON, D. C. May 30 .services were held in many of the churche of the district yesterday and patriotism wa the theme of the discourses. The congrega-tions were characteristic ones, being composed in large part of veterans of the war. At St. Dominick's Church Rev. Father Egan, who served throughout the war as Chaplain in the army of the Potomac, asked the members of his congregation to procure for him a wreath of flowers that he might, in company with his comrades of Rawling Post, place it on the grave of his honored com-mander, the noble and gallant soldier, the bravest of the brave, the lamented Phil Sherand threatening and rain feil generally at Intervais, but later the sun broke through the clouds and there was nothing to interfere with the patriotic and solemn ceremonies of the day.

Extensive preparations for decorating the graves had been made by the various military organizations. It was no small undertaking, for in the numerous cemeteries about the city are fully $0.000 graves of Union soldiers, each one of which was deemed worthy the tribute of a flag and a bunch of flowers. The heavy halistorm of last Thursday wrought fearful havoe in the flower gardens, and citizens generally were appealed to the come forward with flower offerings for the occasion. Besides paying attention to the graves the Memorial Day Committee had all the statues of soldier heroes about the city decorated, and the results of their work appeared to good advantage this morning. There are no less than thirteen of these statues scattered throughout the city. The most elaborate ceremonies at the cemeteries were those at Arlington. Before the services there, however, the eighteen Grand Army posts in the city, a portion of the District of Columbia, National Guard, the "Old Guard" and other independent military companies formed in the vicinity of Grand Army headquarters, and to the inspiring, patriotic music of the Marine Band marched through the city to the aqueduct bridge spanning the Potomac River above West Washington. There those who desired to go on to Arington proceeded on their way, when they arrived at the cemetery a procession censisting of members of the Grand Army, the Woman's Relief Corpe, ax, soldiers, and sallors, invited guests and the public formed in front of the Arington Mansion.

Headed by the Marine Band the procession marched to the tomb of "The Unknown." where halting the band played a dirge and the tomb was decorated. The march was then continued by the main road to the cemetery proper. Here the procession separated and its members proceeded with the decoration of the individual graves. A the procession re-formed an opinion entertained of him by Gen. Lee, and was equal to every emergency.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS AT JEFFERSON—HOW TH DAT WAS OBSERVED.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 80 .- The great and only J. J. Ingalls addressed the people of this city this afternoon, the occasion of his visit being the decoration of the graves of departed heroes. The weather is beastly and has no doubt prevented the crowd from being present that the "Post" had expected. But the old vets in fatigue uniform are here to pay tribute to the memory of those who died for the old flag, and though comparatively few in numbers they make up in enthusiasm.

A GENERAL HOLIDAY. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 80.—Decoration Day s being observed in an appropriate manner n this city. All the city and county offices pended. The parade will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, one section of it going to Oak View Cemetery and the other to Wood-lawn, where garlands of flowers will be strewn on the graves of the departed braves, after which the usual services will be held.

eteries were attended by large crowds. As early as 10 o'clock the down-town thoroughfares were filled with people in holiday attire and men in uniform, hurrying to the various points where exercises were to be held. The Grand Army posts and the Sons of Veterans were assigned to various cemeteries; addresses were made appropriate to the day, and the graves of the dead soldiers were strewn with flowers.

The parade moved at 2 o'clock. It was made up of the veterans, the State militia, the police and fire departments, various secret and benevolent societies and other organizations. The line of march was through the principal down-town streets, finally passing the reviewing stand on Michigan boulevard, where Gen. Miles and hispor Washburne received and dismissed the marchers. To-night there will be reunions and camp-fires of the old soldiers in halls throughout the city, and the evening will be spent in listening to war songs and patriotic addresses.

DULY OBSERVED. GREENFIELD, Ill., May 80.—Memorial services were duly observed here to-day, not withstanding the miserable state of the weather. Able addresses were delivered by Rev. Drs. Wolfe of Carlinville, J. N. Deall, J. J. Dugan and Mr. Brown of this city.

SENATOR JOHN SPOONER DELIVERS AN ADDRES AT MANITOWOC, Manirowoo Wis., May 80.—Senator John Spooner delivered the address at the Memorial Day exercises here to-day. It was an eloquent and scholarly effort, adorned with the flowers of rhetoric, ennobled with patriotic fervor and chastened by pathetic references to the sufferings and sacrifices of the soldiers of the Union, who made little account of their lives if by dying the Union might live. He began by saying that in no other of their lives if by dying the Union might live. He began by saying that in no other land, among no other people, was there an annual observance in all things the counterpart of Decoration Day. "Its music," he said, "is both the exquisite minor of mourning and a gladsome song of thanksgiving and praise, It is at once a funeral and a festival."

The speaker then rapidly sketched the elements in our constitution, which we do not constitution, which we do not constitution, which we do not constitution.

New York, May 80 .- At sunrise to-day the National, State and municipal flags were dis-played at half mast. Though the day was bright during most of the morning, a sharp shower fell at 9 o'clock, the hour fixed for the parade. But it had no effect on the army men who were drawn on the plaza, Central Park, waiting for the signal. The regular rears, waiting for the signal. The regular troops, under command of Lieut.-Col. Wm. E. King, headed the procession. Then came the National Guard, naval reserve artillery and Grand Army Posts in nine divisions, with the old guard as a guard of honor.

A carefully laid-out route was followed and thousands watched the procession as it marched along the streets. At the statues of Farragut, Seward, Lincoln and Washington the colors were dropped and the drums sounded the roll. After the parade was concluded most of the Grand Army posts proceeded to the different cemeteries, where the graves of their comrades were decorated with flowers.

THE USUAL PROGRAMME.
CINCINNATI, May 80,—Memorial Day here had no unusual feature. According to the custom for years there was a parade through the streets to the depot of G.A.R. posts accompanied by two independent military companies and Sons of Veterans. All went by rail to Spring Grove Cemetery, where the G.A.R. ritual was performed and there were brief addresses. The day was generally observed as a holiday.

MANSUR KNOCKED OUT.

U. S. Hall Captures the Deciding Votes-Norton's Danger-Politics.

Politicians from the section of the State ow represented in Congress by Charles H. fansur brought the news to the Laclede Hetel this morning that U. S. Hall had the Democratic nomination secured, and that Democratic nomination secured, and that Mansur in consequence would have to retire. The district is composed of Livingstone, Linn, Sullivan, Grundy, Monroe, Randolph, Chariton and Carroll Counties. All the primaries has been held and in the returns Hall is given Monrob, Randolph, Chariton and Carroll Counties. The vote of these four counties is larger than the strength the Mansur counties will display in the convention. Still Mansur's supporters have not yet given up the battle. They expect to get some of the votes from Carroll, now entirely claimed by Hall. The convention is bound to be an interesting one in view of the closeness of the vote. The race has been exciting from the outset and much bitterness has been engendered between the opposing candidates and their respective followers.

State Candidates in the City,

James Cowghill of Caldwell County, one of the eight candidates for Railroad Commissioner; Lon V. Stephens, candidate for State Treasurer; Frank R. Walker, candidate for Attorner-General, were at the Lacisde gesterday, and left last night for Lincoin County to be present at the mass-meeting to elect delegates. All of the candidates were hopeful and each claims to be a winner. Mr. Stephens says that there has been an attempt made by certain parties to bring about hard feelings between Mr. Frank Pitts and himself, but so far they have not been successful. Mr.
Stephens continuing, said: 'I think the Democratic party contends that I should be elected to serve one term, as I went into office under very adverse circumstances, and I do not think the party will turn me down until I have been elected to serve one term. My opponent, Capt. Pitts, is maksing a manly fight for the office, but his time will come later on, as he could hardly expect to be elected to office the first year he made a canvass of the State. I have nearly enough delegates now instructed to nominate me on the first bellot, but will continue to work hard to make my election nearly unanimous."

Frunk Walker was as happy as a lark, and in his usual jocular manner proclaimed that he had attended divine services in the morning, and being pretty well satisfied that his soul was saved, he would hustle around now and see what he could do for his body. "If death does not overtake me I am as sure to be nominated as that convention will be held," said Mr. Walker, "notwithstanding a little fight that is being made on me because I was once Gov. Francis' private secretary." Congressman Dick Norton joined the group later in the evening, his business in the city being to meet his wife, and not on politics. Mr. Norton has represented the Eighth District in Congress ten terms and is again a candidate, but his re-election is closely contested by "Champ Clark all the way irom Pike." "I don't care anything about the telegraphed reports sent out from various towns in my district to the effect that we are having a very bitter fight," said Mr. Norton. "We are having a gentlemanly and honorable contest. Another thing, I see it telegraphed to the 't. Louis papers that if Clark carries Crawford County be will be assured of the nomination. This is a mistake. He would have to carry both Crawford and Ralls while either one will give the nomination to me," Congressman Norton was the recipient of considerable free advertising several years ago, on account of dipping a quarter for the nomination, which resulted in his being elected to Congress.

The following counties will hold primaries or mass meetings on the dates mentioned: May 31, Lincoln and Daviess; June 4, Buchanan; June 5, Howell and Laclede; June 7, Holt; June 19, Orawford; June 11, St. Louis and Ralls; June 18, Howard and Iron; June 21, Carter and Gentry; June 28, Sociland; June 77, Boone; June 28, Harrison; July 9, Andrew; July 11, Audrain and Cooper, Ste. Genevieve will hold its primary to-day. Frank Walker was as happy as a lark, Norton in Danger. Congression R. H. Norton is in imminent danger of defeat. His seat is being hotly sought by Champ Clark of Pike County, as Clark has thirty-two votes while Norton has but thirty votes. Crawford County will settle the contest, and it is now being can vassed as it never was before. Both enaddates claim it and they will remain there until the primary is held.

Will Take Another Term.

Congressman John J. O'Neill of the new Eleventh District is in the city to-day on private business. He is accompanied by one of his daughters, and will remain several days. He was asked by a Posr-Disparent reporter this morning if he expected to have any difficulty getting another term in Congress. "I cannot say as to the difficulty." he said, "but I would like to secure another term. I am confident that I can carry the district if the nomination again comes in my direction."

Boston, Mass., May 30.—Robert Hanley or tobert Allen, the actor, died suddenly yes-lay. The body will be sent to Pittsburg, which is his native place.

WILL HE RUN?

Blaine's Nearest Political Friends Answer Affirmatively.

The Clarkson Letter Receives a New Interpretation.

IT WAS WRITTEN AT THE DEMAND OF THE PRESIDENT.

He Stood Aside to Save the Party From Disruption - Self Respect Will Impel Him to Accept a Nomination - Depew Thinks the President Will Be Renom inated - A Dark Horse in Training-Political News.

A. Gavett, for more than twenty years one of Mr. Blaine's most confidential friends and trusted political advisers, last night gave litical literature of the country yet made g this campaign. Of Mr. Gavett's ing with and understanding of Mr. laine's feelings and wishes there is not the lightest question. During Mr. Gavett's nt visit to Washington he saw Mr. Blaine ily and with him discussed every phase of a preference for any other candidate. It did not say anything about Mr. Blaine's health, and it did not say that Mr. Blaine would line the nomination provided the convention in its wisdom saw fit to select him. None of these omissions from that were accidental. Had Mr. Blaine refused to stand aside upon the urgent demand of his immediate superior officer, the Presi-dent, Mr. Blaine's self-respect, if nothing else, would have forced him to retire from the Cabinet, a position which he did not care a rap for.

"It would then have been announced that there was a split in the Republican party.

Contests would have followed in every district and State convention in the country, and if a large majority of the delegates had been selected in favor of Mr. Blaine the Pres-Deen selected in favor of Mr. Blaine the President and his friends might have claimed that the President had not been given the opportunity to which he had been entitled by reason of his position. Now the delegates have been chosen without the interference or nce of Mr. Blaine.

"Hence it will be at once realized, when these facts are considered, that Mr. Blaine's great magnanimity in consenting to stand aside and let the President secure the nomination if he could, has saved the party from possible disruption and paved the way to victory, although the sacrifice Mr. Blaine made at the time seemed to have robbed himself of the great honor he has so richly earned. I give it as my judgment that Mr. Blaine will accept the nomination in the grandest letter ever written by an American

PLEA FOR HARRISON. DEPEW THINKS THE PRESIDENT WILL BE NOMI-

NATED. New York, May 80 .- Chauncey M. Depev was asked by a correspondent yesterday whether he had understood any change had been made in the political situation. He is quoted as saying:

"I know of none. I think Mr. Harrison will be nominated. The men who are urging M Blaine to run are counting on influencing the delegates instructed for Mr. Harrison. Now. in my opinion, there is no candidate but Har-which is in effect a letter to all Republicans—stands. It does not matter what construction may be put on it by commentators, it took Mr. Blaine out of the race. "You evidently are not in the Bible is inspired and the commentators are not."

"You evidently are not in sympathy with the movement to nominate Blaine?"

"I am not, because there is no sign that Mr. Blaine would take the piace. I am a great friend of Mr. Blaine. The men who are leading this movement are his enemies. I have worked for Mr. Blaine for many years, and was in the minority. No word came from Mr. Blaine. I taked with him while he was here, and he discussed the financial situation and the affairs of the country with candor, clearness and all his rare force of mind. But he did not drop a word on which to base the slightest suspicion that he had changed his mind. When I talk with the men who say he must be nominated, I ask them if they have reason to think he has changed his mind and they say no."

"Has he written another letter?"

'No.'
'Has he said he would withdraw the Clark-

"'Has he intimated that he has changed his mind?"
"No. All they can say is that they have a general impression that he will run. When I ask them what they mean they declare that they are not sure Blaine will have it, but he must be used to beat Harrison."
"Have they admitted that to you?"
"'Have they admitted that to you?"
"'Certainly they have; 'if they can nom inate Blaine,' they say, 'it will kill off Harrison even if Blaine will not accept it, because no President would be likely to accept an office which had been made to one of his cabinet and rejected.' They do not seem to realize that the rejection of the momination would be a calamity to the party which would have a most depressing and disastrous effect on the canvass and the result. A number of them are also depending on the fact that no man has ever rejected a nomination and that Mr. Blaine would be joth to throw the party into confusion by rejecting the nomination after it had been forced. I am very frank to say that there is much in the situation which may not become clear until the delegates get to Minneapolis. Indeed, I will not absolute ly know what I am going to do myseif until I

GTON, D. C., May 80.-The announcement that ex Speaker Tom Reed would support Blaine as against Harrison has created some surprise among those who have known of the rotund ex-Speaker's bitter hostility to the Maine statesman. It bitter hostility to the Maine statesman. It has come out, however, that several days ago the two men had a conference at which the differences between them were mutually explained away. These differences have existed for many years, and as Reed is quite as good a hater as he is loyal in his friendships it was not believed that the troubles between himself and the Secretary would ever be adjusted.

Reed's ill-feeling for Blaine was tame and common place compared with his bitter and aprelenting hostility to Harrison, and in or-

He could forgive an injury done to him persenally, but his self-respect would not permit him to overlook a slight that the President might put upon him in his official capacity. His statement in the latter case had reference to the President's action rejecting his candidate for the Collectorship of Customs at Portland, where he lives, and the appointment of enother gentleman who was recommended by the two Senators.

Whether Mr. Reed believes that Secretary Blaine will be nominated at Minneapolis, or, if nominated, that he will accept, is not known even to his friends. He is not given to talking about matters that he doesn't want to get into print, and for that reason he remains studiously silent on the subject. There are some reasons for thinking, however, that Reed believes in the end that Blame may decline the nomination if it be tendered to him. In that case Mr. Reed's partisans, who have been doing a good deal of quiet work for him, will launch his presidential boom upon the tempestuous waves of the convention sea. With Blaine out, Reed ought to develop no little strength from the first.

HE IS AN AVOWED BLAINE MAN-NO OTHER CHOICE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 20,-Senator Quay was in Pittsburg yesterday conferring w his political friends. When asked what he thought of the published interview with President Harrison he was non-committal. 'What do you think of it anyway?'

"Well. I have nothing to say." "What do you think the sentiment for Blaine will be at the National Convention?" "I think 700 delegates will present the name of James G. Blaine to the Republican National Convention at Minneapolis on June 7."

"But hasn't Mr. Blaine refused to be a candidate?"

"Yes, he says he is not a candidate, but that would not keep the delegates from nominating him." that would not keep the delegates from nom-inating him."

"He also said in his letter that his name could not be presented to the convention?"

"Have you seen Mr. Blaine lately?"

John Daizell, who was also in Pittsburg on the senatorship hunt to-day, said:

I have no idea, nowever, that he would accept the nomination and am firmly convinced that President Harrison will be nominated by a practically manimous vote on the first ballot."

soveral of them expressed an opinion to the effect that Harrison and Blaine will succeed in killing each other before the convention, in which event the most likely man is Senator Allison. This nomination would be very popular with a large proportion of the Senators, and when it is remembered that Boies has carried loward for the Democracy twice in succession there is nothing unreasonable in the theory which makes Senator Allison a candidate with considerable chances of success. Those who advocate Allison think Secretary Tracy would be a good man to put on the other end of the ticket. This, they claim, would make Iowa and New York certainly Republican.

The injection of Allison into the situation has not, however, materially diminished the demand which seems to exist for Blaine and Rusk. A few of those who have been quite loyal to the Secretary of Agriculture are just now inclined to question the advisability of his nominanation for the Presidency. Not a decogatory word is being said, but there are a few keen politicians who are weighing Rusk and exsenator Spooner and ex-Senator Manderson in their little scales and are trying to make up their minds which would be the best man for the party. Hisine weigh complete the best man for the party. Hisine will accept.

Several months ago when it samed that the President would be recommented without much if any opposition the anti-Harrison Republicans in this city decided not to oppose the movement to renominate the President. The last few weeks it has become evident that there is a widespread movement to defeat the renomination of the President, and as we are opposed to his renomination, we deem it our duty to take i part in this movement. WHEN BALLOTING BEGINS. BLAINE ADHERENT MAKES A PORECAST OF EVENTS AT MINNEAPOLIS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 80 .- The following orecast of events at Minneapolis is made by Republican Congressman who is in the Blaine fold. He says: "Harrison will be presented with speeches glowing with descriptions of his great career in the presidentis chair. He will probably be given credit for all that he has done and all that anybody else has do le to carry out the policy of the safely though the diplomatic troubles in which it has been involved. Gen.
Alger will probably also be presented by his state, and possibly the name of Senator Allison may be proposed by Iowa. The presentation speech-making will stop of that, and then when the convention proceeds to a call of States those delegations which believe that Blaine is the man with whom to win will vote for the Flumed Knight. Afabama will be called first, and then Arkańsas—the one with twenty-two and the other with sixteen votes. It is more than probable that in each of these States odd votes will be cast for Blaine on the first ballot. Even one from each State will take the convention off its feet with a fury of enthusiasm. Then California, always devoted to Blaine, will come next with her solid eighteen votes. Colorado will come next with her eight votes for Blaine. Then Connecticut with twelve votes for Blaine, be on its feet and enthusiastic or the Maine statesman.

"The fir t chance to get anything like a solid basi for a howl for Harrison will be when Illin is is called. If he could have the solid vote if that State it would give him a moment of substantial enthusiasm. But if he only get sabout half of it, after all the manipular on in his favor by Cullom and the Chicago of iceholding contingent, the other half going to Blaine, the Maine man will get by far the treater shout. Even Indiana will furnish i od for Blaine enthusiasm in the delicates from the Ft. Wayne district, who are opposed to Harrison. Then will come lowa and kansas, with solid delegations for Blaine, and that will settles he business. By the time New York and gennsylvania and Ohio are reached, with their geat Blaine vote, it will be difficult to keep the convention in order to call the remainder of the States, and when the last state is called, chairmen of delegations all over the hall will be on their chairs shouting for recognition to be the first to change the Harrison vote in their delegations all over the hall will be on their chairs shouting for recognition to be the first to change the Harrison vote in their delegations all over the hall will be on their chairs shou his state, and possibly the name may be proposed unanimous.

Blaine will have over 600 votes before the call of States is completed. The claim of the President that he has 600 votes is plainly non-sense. He has less than 800, and they are nearly all in Democratic States. There will be but one ballot, and Blaine will be the nominee unless he absolutely declares before the convention that he will in no circumstances accept a nomination, and that, I am assured, he will not do."

Brody is only a few miles from the Rus-sian Polish frontier, and in the course of tramping about the Austrian troops un-wittingly crossed the frontier into Russian borne on Russian soil. The Cossacks hastened to report to the commander of the

sian territory. A brief review of the sur-roundings satisfied the Austrians that they had made a mistake, and they turned their faces at once toward the frontier. Just as they were crossing the Russian troops were seen approaching in the distance at a double-quick, but before the Russians got within aring distance the Austrians were on their own side of the line and there was no longer excuse for hostilities on the part of the Russians. The Russians acted as if they were disappointed, and their commander. were disappointed, and their commander, after placing a strong outpost at the point where the Austrians had crossed, returned slowly to Radzivílou. The incident was at once reported by the Brody Commander to Prince von Windisch Groetz at Lemberg, General in command of the Austrian forces in

Indeed, he showed no inclination to land, and was anxious that the interview should be held on board his yacht. On this point, however, he was colliged to yield to the wishes of the German court. That a visit under such conditions can't be of any political importance is evident. It is plain to everyone that the Czar is acting, so to speak, under compulsion, and that he intends to visit William because william has visited him twice and because certain rules of politeness must be observed by sovereigns as well as private persons. In Germany the much-talked of visit is no longer looked forward to with joy, and the Czar's reserved demeanor has produced a

The physicians at the City Hospital say that the death of Joseph L. Hall, who died at that institution last Saturday, was not due at that institution last Saturday, was not due to hydrophobia, as stated in the morning papers, but to general congestion of the brain brought about by several attacks of a grippe. They further state that if Hall had been bitter by a dog the bite had had nothing whatever to do with his death.

Dr. O. C. Stout, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I gave it to one patient who was unable to transact the most ordinary business, because his brain was 'tired and confused' upon the least mental exertion. Immediate benefit and ultimate recovery followed."

DEATH OF REV. DANIEL B. WOODS. an Old and Honored Resident of the City

Passes Away. Passes Away.

Rev. Daniel B., Woods, who died here yesterday morning at 2:80 o'clock, was an old resident of St. Louis. He was born Sept. 20, 1809, being in his 88d year at the time of his death. Dr. Woods came of a family of clergymen and educators. He was the youngest son of Leonard Woods, D. D., the first president of Phillips Academy and vice-president of Andover Theological Seminary, and a brother of Leonard Woods, D. D., I.L. D., president of Bowdon College, Me.

lege, Me.

A graduate of Union Theological Seminary, Dr. Woods entered the university at an early age, but his voice failing him, he devoted his energies to the education of young ladies. He came to St. Louis in 1855 and established a large seminary at Eighth and Olive streets, where the daughters of many prominent people of the city, State and various portions of the South were educated.

Nine years ago he became afflicted with an affection of the heart, since which time he has been an invalid.

Early in life Dr. Woods married Miss Elizabeth Pierce, the daughter of Parker H. Pierce, a prominent merchant of Boston, Mass., who still survives him. Three years ago they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, which was attended by all their children, grandchildren and great-grand-children.

A CHASE FOR LIFE. Five Days' Experience of Weems and His Guardians.

Guardians.

Morristown, Tenn., May 30.— Charles Weems, the negro charged with attempting to assault a white woman at Chattanooga on May 10, is in jail at this place. Weems was arrested after the alleged assaulteand jailed at Chattanooga. Next night a mob captured the jail, only to find that Weems had been spirited away. His whereabouts were unknown until located in Nashville, twenty-four hours later. The mob spirit became rampant and a second riot followed in the capital city, in which a dozen men were hurt, one sariously. A fire engine was sent whirling through the streets to draw the crowd from the jail, but it did not break. The police forced the crowd back, while Weems, in the garb of the jail cook, boldly walked out and joined the officers at the depot. Then begans race that outclasses anything this State and probably any other had ever seen. Weems was taken to Guthrie, Ry., but was compelled to leave in a hour to avoid a mob. TO-NIGHT'S BATTLE.

lavin and Jackson to Decide the Australian Championship.

THE WHITE MAN A STRONG PAVORITE IN THE BETTING.

One of the Most Important Puellistic Con tests of Becent Years-Why Slavin Should Win-Amsteur Rowing Races in the East-The Pullman Road Race-General Sporting News.

The greatest heavy-weight contest fought to the Sullivan-Kiirain meeting is to be ided to-night. Frank P. Slavin, white, and Peter Jackson, colored, Australia's premier heavy-weight, will battle in the rooms of the National Sporting Club of Lon-don, England, for a $10,000 purse and the ship of Australia.

championship of Australia.

Slavin will probably have as seconds his brother Jack and the Australian lightweight champion, Tony Williams, who is at present in England. George Piesse, Slavin's English backer, who with his contingent of London sports, runs the London Sporting Club will also be on hand to render the white Australian what help he can. Jackson will be handled by his American backer. Charles be handled by his American backer, Charles, better known as "Parson," Davies, Jim Hall, the Australian middleweight and Joe Choynski, the California heavyweight, who accompanied Davies over to England, will be a companied Davies over to England. Choynski, the California heavyweight, who accompanied Davies over to England, will also probably be in Jackson's corner. The referee will, of course, be chosen by the authorities of the club before whom the contest will be fought. According to some advices Lord Lonsdale has already been settled upon for the sposition. Others say that George Vize or Angle will be the referee. This is a matter of much importance, particularly to Jackson, for his friends have feared that as Slavin's backers control the club the colored man would not be allowed to win, and it has been frequently stated that he did a socilish thing in agreeing to meet his rival in the rooms of the National Club. There are two conditions in the articles of agreement which strongly favor Slavin. One is the rules only call for a twentyround contest. Slavin is a rusher and if he wins he is almost certain to do so in a few rounds. On the other hand, Jackson, to defeat Slavin, must keep out of the latter's way until the white has tired himself and his blows have lost their force before attempting to become the aggressor. For him to win, therefore the contest must be a long one blows have lost their force before attempting to become the aggressor. For him to win, therefore, the contest must be a long one. Of course he might win by a chance blow, but the probabilities are all against him doing so. He is a far more scientific man than Slavin, but not nearly so hard a hitter. It is generally understood that the agreement making the contest a twenty-round affair is merely a blind to comply with the law by making the match appear to be merely a limited-round scientific sparring contest instead of a finish fight, and that if the battle has not been decided by the end of twenty rounds the men will keep fighting until one of them does win. If Jackson has an iron-clad private agreement to that effect the twenty-round provision is harmless, but if he has not and Slavin has not won after twenty rounds have been fought or has not got his man all but whitpped, the provision is apt to be enforced and the match declared a draw to save the money of the men who are backing the white. The other clause in Slavin's favor is reducing the size of the ring from the regulation 24 feet square.

men who are backing the white. The other clause in Slavin's favor is reducing the size of the ring from the regulation 24 feet square to 20 feet square. This will make it more difficult for Jackson to avoid the white man's rushes. Jackson took many chances in making the match. According to latest reports betting in London is 100 to 70 and 100 to 65 against him.

As has already been stated in these columns, the majority of the American sporting public expect to see Slavin prove the winner, although the colored giant is universally admitted to be one of the world's greatest heavyweights. The white, however, is a much harder hitter and his followers claim he can stand more punishment. That he is a terrible punisher has been clearly proven by his set-tos with Jake Kilrain, Jom Smith and Joe McAuliffe. Neither of the last two are better than second-rate fighters, but Slavin finished them so quickly that his blows must have been terrific. That he is a stayer is yet to be proven. He has never met anyone since he left home that has demonstrated his ability to stand before him longer than ten seconds, and of course just how he will pan out in a long, bard his ability to stand before him longer than ten seconds, and of course just how he will pan out in a long, hard contest is yet to be seen. His forte seems to be in his ability to force matters to a conclusion at the start. In Jackson he will encounter one of the world's most scientific heavyweights, and it remains to be seen whether he can carry out with success the same tactics with him. Should he be able to do so the contest will soon be brought to a close. Even Jackson's most argent admirers admit that if he cannot keep Slavin from indulging in his favorite pastime of in-fighting it will soon be over with Peter. They hold, however, that he is clover enough to keep Slavin out and avoid his rusies. On the whole, however, Slavin's chances for winning appear to be the better.

CORBETT WILL TRAIN AT ASBURY PARK. NEW YORK, May 30 .- It is at last positively settled that Corbett will train at Asbury Park for his coming fight with John L. Sullivan William Brady, Corbett's trainer, has rented the Redding cottage at Killit.

Base ball men are generally looked upon by those who care nothing for the game as a rather tough class—as "boozers" and men ho are in the habit of raising Cain generally, says a Chicago exchange. And it's all their own fault. They disregard the rules of the management and slip out at night to see the town, and that is how they get the reputa-tion. There are some of them that are regular tion. There are some of them that are regular in their habits, and even a few who are christian gentlemen, but the black sheep of the flock are so numerous as to be almost discouraging to those who try to maintain a decent aspect. Take for instance the recent escapade in Cincinnati of Jerry Harrington, young McGill and Pitcher Rhines. They disgraced the whole profession, and particularly the young Chicago lad. He has had better training at home and has had no overy poor influence to lead him astray in either Al Johnson or Comiskey. He is a bad little boy that ought to be somewhere to be reformed. He is not a player of sufficient value to miss, anyway. In fact it is a mystery how Comiskey became so attached to him. He never did any work that is worth the slightest commendation and ought not to be bothered with any more.

CAPT. EGAN'S STORY.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The mystery attending the sudden and sensational disappearance of the shipping master, Capt. Egan, from this city has not yet been cleared up. The Captain, who has just returned from Rochester, N. Y., gives an extraordinary account of the circumstances by which his transportation to Rochester was effected. Notwithstanding the seemingly incredible nature of the story, he declares he is ready to support it by am-

"One of the boldest and most miserable outrages ever perpetrated on an inoffensive man has been perpetrated upon me," he said, "including robbery of no small amount to a poor man. I came here to be associated with Biemel in the Chicago shipping office of the Lake Carriers' Association. Before the office was opened I went out one day to see some friends at Thirty-fourth and Halsted streets. In the evening they put me aboard one of the cross-town street car lines. I got off the car at Thirty-first street to walk. While walking along Thirty-first street to walk. While walking and engaged me in conversation. An instant afterward something like a wet towel was pulled suddenly and tightly across my face from behing. I struggled fiercely and grasped one of the men by the throat. This is all I can remember. Next I knew I found myself dirty and sick in some place familiar to me. I inquired from passers-by and they told me I was in Rochester, the home of my boyhood. How I got there I don't know. I must have been drugged and unconscious all the time from Chicago to Rochester, for all is blank from the time of the assault. I had 500 on my person, of which I was robbed."

His first artistic efforts were printed in the Journal Amuant, to the staff of which he was afterwards attached. He drew many charming and peculiar types of Parisian women and boulevardiers, which appeared in Chiravest, the Petis Journal Pour Rive and other papers. He was an artist of the kind that France only produces and whose work is not approached to any measureable degree by the carlicaturists of other countries. He was an incessant producer. Grevin was also a designer of theatrical costumes. Judic, Theo and all the famous dancers and variety performers wore costumes of his design.

In recent years he started what is known as the Musee Grevin, where he exhibited wax caricatures of familiar boulevard figures and many curiosities, including the bath in which Charlotte Corday stabbed Marat, and others of equal charm.

HOWLING FOR HELP.

The attention of St. Louisans has been concentrated upon the relief of the peo that a case of deep tribulation "in the mids of us" has been overlooked. The Old Pretender of Local Journalism has fallen into the soup. It has been frantically waving the signal of distress for some time, and driven to the depths of desperation it emits a howl for help so full of touching appeal that it would strike the dint of pity in the hardest heart if it were not combined with an attempt to strike a slick bargain.

The Old Pretender has been ailing and growing steadily weaker, but didn't know what was the matter with itself until it suddenly discovered by watching the robust strength and unrivalled growth of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH that news is the staff of newspaper life. It disovered also that it had not had any news or a long time. It is starving for news. It must have some news or die. It offers a reward for a piece of news and we do not doubt that its readers will gladly join in the movement and offer double the reward to the Old Pretender, one half to be paid when it recognizes the piece of news and the other half when it appears in the Having found its staff of editors, corre pondents and reporters useless for the purpose of news-getting, the Old Pretende appeals to the public to help it out. It fiers $50 to the outsider who sends in the best "tip" or item of news between now and July 1.

It should be noted that the $50 is only paid for the one tip or item which a committee from its own force decides is the

THE Old Pretender, true to its principle of journalistic false pretenses, is trying to work a snap on the dear public. Instead of employing first-class news-gatherers and paying for all the news it gets. as the POST-DISPATCH and other enterprising newspapers do, it is trying to inveigle the public into free work for it and get all the news for a pittance. The person gives up good news for the indefinitely small chance of winning a little prize on the award of an inside committee is a 'dead-easy sucker' whom it would be base flattery to call a fool.

As the drowning man grasps at a straw so the sinking newspaper grabs at a "fake," but the Old Pretender will have to find something better than this "cinch Four Courts and the Mayor's office must brace" journalism to yank it out of its ditch of distress.

BIGGEST AND BEST.

The policy of the daily and SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH is to get the news regardless of cost. It is and always has been willing to pay for news. This is the way news and to distance all competitors in popularity with the people of this city. The Globe-Democrat's offer of $50 for the in the matter of news-gathering by work ing a snap game on the public. How badly both the Globe-Democrat and the Republic need some sort of scheme to help them out is shown by a comparison of their Sunday issues with that of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. They have fellows have tramped through rain and practically dropped out of competition published 40 pages yesterday while the Globe-Democrat dropped to 36 pages and the Republic printed its usual 32 pages. In the matter of local news the record of yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH shows that the Globe-Democrat's effort to brace up and get some of it by inveigling the public into its service is natural. Among the important items of local news which appeared in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH and did not appear in either the Globe-Democrat or Republic were accounts of the fight on Twentieth and Carr streets growing out of the attentions of FRANK REDFIELD to Mrs. HATTIE WALTON; the grant of authority to the Piacenza fathers to establish a new parish here; Dr. RUMFORD's announcement of his intention to start an Edenic Home in this city; the results of the Grand-jury's investigation into crookedness at the Four Courts, and others. The superiority of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH in the local field was matched articles. It is willing to pay for all good matter and gets it. It is the biggest and "My kingdom for a horse" and "Help best Sunday newspaper in St. Louis and the fact that it has a bigger circulation in this city than any other paper shows that the verdict of the people is in accordance with the facts.

the fact that the section of Missouri south of the river now has the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, five of the seven Supreme Court judges, four of the six judges of the Court of Appeals, the two Senators in Congress and the four Delegates-at-Large to the National Convention. Inasmuch as North Missouri furnished 20,000 of took place Saturday night, was an item of the 25,000 Democratic plurality at in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. The only it would be good policy for the approachreference which the Globe-Democrat had ing Democratic State Convention to make three of the Supreme Judge nominations to North Missouri, which would give that section four of the seven judges, or a majority for once, instead of keeping a majority always south of the river.

In its sanouncement that a prize of $50 will be given to the person sending in the best local item before July 1, the Old Pretender says that its editorial force will make the award. This will doubtless disourage a great many who would otherwise compete, as there is a lurking suspicion in this community, especially since the recent flood, that the Old Pretender's editorial force does not know a good item

GRAND AVENUE from Easton north to the Fair Grounds exasperates more people than any cher mile of street in St. Louis. Near every owner of a rig is over it occasionally. All of forced to driv them denounce it as a public nuisance and a disgrace to the city, and half of them suspect that its, being kept so persistently in an exceptionally bad condition is the result of a conspiracy in the interest of rehicle repairers and horse doctors.

PERHAPS they keep a "rubber stamp" at the Four Courts as well as at the City Hall. This may explain to the Grand-jury why none of the Criminal Court officials are responsible when a commitment for a light jail sentence follows the recording of Workhouse sentence against a burglar or highway robber operating under the protection of "de push."

THE Old Pretender's offer of $50 for the est local item turned into its office before July 1 is very much like a shot of 50 to 1 on

From the St. L. County Watchman.

The Post-D sarch has done more for the relief of flood afferers and has furnished its readers with better reports of the great calamity than any other metropolitan paper published in St. Louis. The management of the P.-D. is not only able but also very charitable, which accounts for its well-merited success. The Post-Disparch relief fund, delivered to the Merchants' Exchange yesterday, reache the magnificent sum of $11,000, $10,000 of which representing the contributions made by the aritable people of St. Louis through that medium and $1,000 the personal contribution of Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the P.-D. The storm of cheers with which the received and the resolutions passed by the Merchants' Exchange is sufficient evidence of the well-earned gratitude due the Post-DISPATCH by all good people in which senti-ment the Watchman joins most heartily.

Grand Avenue Quagmires

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As the only paper in St. Louis with nerve enough to n ike known the carelessness our city officers is will thank you to call attention to be condition of Grand avenue from Easton worth. A perfect sea of mud and in many places practically no sidewalks. Is it not the daily of the police to report such violations of the law, as for example, on Grand avenue opposite Lucky street a lot has been partly graded and then left. Every time it rains he sidewalk is positively impassable. Is a policeman an ornament or a guardian of the laws? Should he not see that such violation of law is stopped?

Judge Normile Avoids a Fight With the Push.

The Grand-Jury Discovers That Receipts Signed by Men Who Presented the Mayor's Remits Bore False Names-A Scheme to Escape Detection-Tes timony by the Mayor's Coachman and John Horan-Censure of City Attorney Butler and Supt. John Lohrum.

Without waiting for the action of the Grand-jury in the matter, Judge Normile today acted upon the cases in his court in which the sentences of two criminals had been changed by Frank Klaiber, Clerk Hugh Pattison's chief deputy. As soon as the Criminal Court convened this morning Judge Normile handed down to Record Clerk Joseph N. Judge two orders in his own handwriting signed "J. C. Normile, Judge." The one in the case of Frank Miller was:

The one in the case of William Beehan was similar except the date. Beehan was sen-tenced Feb. 3. The orders are not what Judge Normile told the Grand-jury they a short horse at the Fair Grounds. It is a good thing if you win, but your chances of winning are microscopic.

Their term in jail did not satisfy the Court's sentence a whit. Good lawyers about the court in conversation agreed that the Judge's position was correct, but something changed his mind between Saturday and this morning. The orders mean only that the two men shall go to the Work-house and serve the part of the six months which they have not spent in jail. Beehan thus is sent to the Work-house for only two months and Miller goes there for less than four. With the goes there for less than four. With the political friends they have it is unlikely that they will stay in the Work-house even that length of time when pardons are being distributed as they are.

While the Judge sat on the bench the law-yers and court employes talked with each other about the position of the Judge, and the general opinion was that he would the general opinion was that he would carry out the intention he announced Saturday, in face of the threats being made quietly by the politicians who had tampered with the court records. There were sneers and reflections upon the courage of the Judge, some part of which must have reached his ears. Mr. McDonald half rose from his chair, with an air of much respect, and a sneer that he did not disguise. "I am not responsible, your Honor," said he, "for the mistakes and errors in this court."
For an instant there was slience, but the Judge did not break it by fining the lawyer for contempt. Instead, he said merely, "It was so announced, Mr. McDonald," and then covered his discomposure by passing to another case.

OAN'T TRACE THE REMITS.

The Grand-jury concluded to-day that it couldn't finish its work till Wednesday. Several of the jurors come down town yesterday and, locking themselves and their control on their eral of the jurors ceme down town yesterday and, locking themselves up in their room, worked on their report. It will be long and filled with details showing how justice is being thwarted in St. Louis, with all those of its criminal courts in the hands of politicians who use the processes of the law for their own ends. The jury has been working steadily to-day on the cases of dishonesty furnished by the long, narrow little books in which Chief Deputy Marshal Albert Wailblock keeps his receipts for money paid to the men who present the Mayor's remit for fines. In some cases the jury has had great difficulty in tracing the remits. It seems that receipts have been signed with false mames by some of those who presented the remits and took the fine money. This is a pretty clever scheme for a rogue making his living through the Mayor's remits, and it is a wonder that the Grand-jury has not had more trouble of this kind. One receipt that worried the Grand-jury hos not had more trouble of this kind. One receipt that worried the Grand-jury to-day was signed "J. E. Murphy." Nobody in the Grand-jury room knew who he was, and Circuit Attorney William Zachritz was sent out to ask Clerk Ben Finney to make inquires. Clerk Finney went to the Marshal's office and found there that they did not know who "J. E. Murphy" was. Chief Deputy Albert Wailblock, when asked about the receipt, said that he did not know the men who presented the Mayor's remits to him in every case. It might be possible for them to use a false name. The remit itself was sufficient to oblige the Marshal to pay over the fine, no matter who presented it.

name. The remit itself was sufficient to oblige the Marshal to pay over the fine, no matter who presented it.

SUCESSFUL NOONAY MEN.

Johnny Horan, who is a successful remit obtainer, was before the Grand-jury to-day. He is a barkeeper for a saloon keeper opposite the Four Courts, and it is a current joke among the frequenters of the building, that while the employer has as much as he can do to make both ends meet, the friend and Secretary James Brennan drives a fast horse and is generous to prodigality with his money. Horan went into the Grand-jury room with grave mien and came out in half an hour radiant, and ready to shake hands with everybody.

"Didn' do nothin' to me," he exclaimed joyfully, as he took the arm of a friend who had been waiting sadly for him in the antechamber, and they went out, passing Assistant Circuit Attorney Zachritz on the way.

"I gave it to 'im straight, didn't i?" said Horan to the grand jury guardian. "I told 'im everything I knew."

The Grand-jury also had Mike Doran before them to-day. He is carried on the pay-rolls of the city as a fireman, and is employed by Mayor Noonan for his Honor's private work. He used to be the Mayor's coachman, but the work of the Mayor's coachman, but the work of the Mayor's coachman, but the page and stenographer would be inentire charge of the omportance of the cours has been anxious to be called to testify. The next Grand-jury cannot indict the men whom it has had before the body as witnesses, and that is way everybody connected with the exposures in the courts has been anxious to be called to testify. The next Grand-jury can indict on the testimony this one gets, to be sure, but nobody is afraid of that. It is too far away, and besides there are ways known to the politician of providing against the selection of reformers when the time comes for the next jury. It is the subject of remark at the Four Courts that the City Attorney has not been summoned, and a good many different remores have been in circulation. It is pretty well understood however t scon as prisoners escape from the Workhouse. The Superintendent has been before the Grand-jury and is safe from anything more serious than censure.

NINA MARSHALL BATTERED UP.

were all bloody and her hair was one mass of blood, presenting quite a contrast to the gaily dressed Nina Marshall seen driving on the boulevards with a couple of her fashionably attired sisters in sin a few hours before. It appears that while under the influence of liquor between s and 4 o'clock this morning Miss Marshall decided to pay a visit to No. 2025 Chestnut street and have a settlement there with one of the girls named Murse, who formerly lived with her and whom she suspected of having robbed a prominent citizen of St. Louis at her house. Calling a cab and taking her housekeeper, Maud Lewis, with her, Miss Marshall went to the Chestnut street house and demanded admittance. Madge Addison, who keeps the house, ordered her away, but instead of leaving she broke the plate glass in the front door. She would have climbed through the broken window, but was saved the trouble, the door being opened and the two women being admitted. Directly afterwards there wasja collision in the hailway and it was then that Sergt. Williams and Officer Platzer were attracted to the scene by loud cries of "Watch! watch! murder!" They found the Narshall woman lying on the floor in the hailway, with her head and face covered with blood. Summoning a patrol wagon, they placed her in it and arrested everybody in sight, including the cabman. The Marshall woman wasitaken to the City Dispensary and the others to the Four Courts. All partles were, however, released as soon as the particulars of the affair were learned, excepting Nina Marshall and Maud Lewis, against whom a charge of disturbing the peace was placed. Dr. Jordan was nearly an hour in washing and dressing the Marshall woman's wounds. There were seven cuts on her face and head that required stitching, and most of her hair had to be shaved off before the scaip wounds could be sewed up. She was then driven to the Four Courts and her statement of the affair taken. She said that she had been assaulted not only by Miss Addison but also by a man in her house and that it was the man pounded her with a wine bottle and broke the bottle over her head.

Miss Marshall and Miss Lewis were released on bond to appear in court this morning. She was, however, not able to appear in court today and her case, as also that of her house-keeper, was continued to June 6. The Marshall woman was arrested before this trouble occurred last night on a charge of keeping a house of ill fame at 1312 Pine street, and that case was also continued this morning.

Farmer and His Wife Gagged and MILWAUREE, May 30 .- A bold robbery was the home of Florian Roth, about eight miles southwest of the city. Gags were then placed in their mouths. The burglars next proceeded to ransack the house. Two hundred dollars were secured. After this the robbers departed, and Mr. Roth finally succeeded in freeing himself and released his wife. Meeting of the Committee of Arrange ments at the Merchants' Exchange This Morning-Committees Appointed and the Work to Be Done-M. M. Fates States the Objects of the Convention.

At II o'clock this morning the Committee of Arrangements to make preparations for the reception and entertainment of the dele-sates to the Nicaragua Canal Convention to was announced that the convention would be held in Entertainment Hall of the Exposition Building and that the first session would open at 11 o'clock on Thursday next. The question of entertainment then came up. It was decided, after much discussion, to tender the delegates a carriage drive to the various points of interest in the city, to end at the Fair Grounds, where a banquet would be given. As the Jockey Club-house, according to the statement of Mr. Rolla Wells, would not be available owing to its being occupied by attendants at the races, it was voted to hold the banquet at the House of Public Comfort, and Goodman King was authorized to provide the requisite carriages. Judge M. M. Estee of San Francisco, one of the prime movers in the assembling of the convention, was introduced by Col. R. C. Kerens, and at the request of Chairman Bernheimer, stated that all States but five had signified their intention of attending the convention. According to his estimate about 300 delegates would be present.

BANQUET PREHARATIONS.

The subject of the banquet was then again taken up, and R. C. Kerns' J. O. Churchill, Roll A. Wells, and Martin Collins were appointed as a committee to make suitable arrangements. A setter wasfread from Gov. Francis stating that he had promised to be present at the opening exercises of the State University at Columbia on June 2, and did not see how he could be in St. Louis on that date. It was resolved to send a telegram to the Governor, asking him to attend and to make the opening address. A committee on toasts and speeches was next appointed, consisting of E. O. Stanard, Frank Galennie and Nathan Frank, which should be empowered to recommend someone to deliver the address of welcome in case the Governor should find himself unable to attend. It was voted that Rev. F. J. Stimson be invited to open the convention by prayer. Chairman Bernheimer suggested that Mayor Noonan be invited to take part in the deliberations of the committee, and a motion to that effect was unanimously carried. Goodman King was appointed a committee of one to provide 300 delegate badges and fifty committee badges, Rolla Wells announced that these badges would admit their wearers to the Fair Grounds and all parts of the race track.

Frank Galennie was intrusted with the task of providing a sufficient staff of official reporters. The manner in which the convention was to proceed was discussed, and at the request of the Committee, Judge Estes suggested that after the opening address a delegates from California, at the instance of which State the call had been issued, would state the objects to be attained, after which the preliminary organization would take place. Judge Estes wished it to be clearly understood that California asked no offices and would work earnestly for the success of the convention. Letters were received from the Philadelphia Board of Trade and from the

M. M. Estee's VIEWS.

Senator M. M. Estee of San Francisco, in speaking of the convention, said: "One thing should be clearly understood, and that is that it will be no cut-and-dried affair. We come here to get the ideas of the citizens of the United States, and also to prove how important the canal will be and how easy of construction. The call came from California, but St. Louis was selected not because we were asked to come here, for we were not, but because it was recognized as the most important point in the Mississippi Valley. It is the central point of twenty-two States, and was chosen as the place for holding the convention of the last voict.

Judge Estee was asked concerning the political outlook, but declined to speak at all in his connection, stating that for the first time in many years his lips were absolutely seeled.

A Jury Which Did Not Want to Adjourn

A Jury Which Did Not Want to Adjourn for Decoration Day.

Judge Vaillant's Court is engaged to day hearing evidence in the damage suit of Matthews & Schneider against John Michel for alleged slander. The case was continued from Saturday. When the court convened to day Judge Vaillant, addressing the jurors, called attention to the fact that it was Decoration Day. He agreed to let the jury decide whether the hearing should be gone on with or postponed until to-morrow. The jury took a vote on the matter, and the first ballot showed a unanimous decision to go on with the case.

The hearing developed some interesting testimony. The plaintiffs in the case are builders, and had constructed a house for Michel, and, according to the testimony, considerable feeling had existed between the parties, growing out of the transaction. The plaintiffs are sning for $5,000, alleging that Michel called them swindlers and scoundrels. Attorney Fauntleroy, who is defending the case, put Mr. Fred Matthels, one of the plaintiffs, through a rigid examination as to how the hodse was built, Mr. Matthels admitted that the specifications had not been compiled with in some instances. He explained that the difference in the cost of the material put in was very little less than what the specifications called for.

"Yes," said Attorney Fauntleroy, "the difference in cost was very little in each case, but when you take each item from the top of the building to the bottom it amounts to considerable."

The case was enlivened during the examination of Mr. Matthews by a spirited till be-the building to the bottom it amounts to considerable."

The case was enlivened during the examination of Mr. Matthews by a spirited tilt between Attorneys Fauntiercy and Bass. Mr. Bass is one of the plaintin's attorneys and took exception to one of Mr. Fauntieroy's questions, denouncing the lawyer's procedure as buncombe. Mr. Fauntieroy replied by making an address to the court, appealing from the criticism of the counsel on the other side.

"I have been used to that sort of thing at the Four Courts," said Mr. Fauntieroy, "and did not mind it there, but I thought that when I got down here, that we could try a case like gentlemen."

Mr. Bass stated that he though that he could try a case in this, or any court, like a gentleman. Judge Vallant ruled that Mr. Bass was right in bis position, from a legal point, but held that the word "buncombe" was objectionable, and Mr. Bass apologised to the Court, when the case proceeded.

The will of Johannes Umbach was admitted to probate to-day. He leaves his estate to his wife Dorothea Umbach absolutely, subject to the following legacies: To Friedericke Goebringer, $3,000; to the Evangelical Eutherans' Orphan Home in St. Louis County, $1,000; to the Concordia College in St. Louis, $1,000; to the Concordia College in St. Louis, $1,000; to the Evangelical Lutheran Mission among the negroes, $1,000; to the Immanuel's congregation of Fifteenth and Morgan streets, $1,000; to the Institution of the Deaf and Dumb at Norris, Mich., $1,000; to the Evangelical Lutheran Hospital in St. Louis, $500.

Barbara Richmond, by her will admitted to probate to-day, leaves $50 each to Mary Oraig, Margaret Wise, Jane Hilbert, William and Charles Moir, the latter two being brothers of testatrix. She leaves $25 each to Martha Ohlhausan, Mary Sheble, Thomas T. Craig, Alexander Craig and the Creve Cœur Sunday-school. She gives $10 each to Eliza Thompson, Delia Fitzwater and the Ruth Brank Mission of the Central Presbyterian Church. She orders a note held by her against Thomas T. Craig for $340, more or less, cancelled, and gives her late husband's gold watch to Jane Hilbert. The rest of her estate she divides equally between her sister, Jenny Moir, and her brother, Alexander Moir. The estate is valued at $7,000.

Theodore C. Beck in his will, probated to-day, gives to his sister, Minnie Klener, $200, and to her son, Harry Klener, his gold watch. He leaves the rest of his estate equally to his brother, Jacob Beck; Minnie Klener and Ullricke Rohling.

PARADE BY THE LOCAL POSTS OF THE GRAND ARMY.

The Colored Soldiers Given the Position of Honor - Beautiful Services Held Over the Soldiers' Graves at Jefferson Barracks-All the City Offices Closed-

It was decidedly showering all over this town this morning, with a dark sky and gusty winds, and the G. A. R. comrades looked out approhensively, forecasting a serious interference with their great yearly demonstration—Memorial Day. But as the rain ceased falling early in the forencen, and paring weather was indicated, they took urage, and so did the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, who had undertaken to decorate the Grant statue and to assist in other ways in honoring the memory of the heroic dead.

GENERALLY OBSERVED.

Pursuant to preciamation of the Mayor, the day was made a half holiday at the City Hall. The Post-office was closed from 12 m. to 5 p. m. The Merchants' Exchange did not open at all. The Circuit Courts were also closed except in two rooms, which were open

The other courts, generally, had either adjourned for the day or held very brief sessions. By general consent in many lines, this afternoon was declared off for business purposes, or only enough employes were retained to keep up with routine business.

THE GRANT STATUE.

Quite a crowd witnessed the decoration of the Grant statue on Lucas Market this foremon. This work was lovingly done by the General Memorial Committee of the W. R. C., composed of Mrs. Gammeter, Mrs., Lear, Mrs. Flannagan, Miss Evans and others. They secured the aid of North, the florist, a comrade of Ransom Post. There was an abundance of flowers and the decoration was tastefully performed. The young ladies composing Annie Wittenmeyer's Tent, Daughter of Veterans, contributed a testimonial in memory of the great General, and Harry Harding Relief Corps affixed a magnificent bouquet—the first contribution an individual corps average. def Corps affixed a magnificent bouquet—the first contribution an individual corps ever made to the decoration of a statue or monu-

The Union Veteran Legion conducted impressive exercises at the graves of Gen. McNiel, Capt. Stephen Uhrig and Comrade Hay-

At noon to-day the posts began assembling at Lucas place and Fourteenth street. The first to swing into sight was Col. Shaw Post, the society of colored veterans, who turned out some sixty strong. This post led the procession—the very first time in the history of the Grand Army that a colored post was so honored. The comrades highly appreciated the distinction. The posts were nearly an hour in assembling, but finally all participating had reported, and at 1 o'clock sharp the command to move was given. The order of the column was as follows:

And now, as in this silent camping ground of our and these passionizers to decrease and love we garland these passionizers to the create and love we garland the passions of the second their trials, their sufferings, their breasts the barrieade between our country and its loce. Let us recall their trials, their sufferings, their breasts the barrieade between our country and its loce. Let us recall their trials, their sufferings, their breasts the barrieade between our country and the fag under which they fought and from the shadows of whose folds they were promoted may never be dishonored; that the country for whose union and supremacy they surrendered life may have the fervent and enthusiastic devotion of every citisen; that, as we stand to vevery grave as before an altar, we may pledge our manhood that, so held us God, the memory of our dead shall encourage and strengthen in us all a more loyal patriotiem.

In us all a more loyal patriotism.

A BRAUTIFUL CEREMONI.

The exercises at this point concluded with a benediction by Comrade John Klein of Charles Deming Post.

The column then proceeded to the cemetery, and proceeded to strew flowers on the graves. Before breaking ranks, two comrades stepped forward, and one laying a bouquet upon the grave of a soldier, said:

In your name, my comrades, I seatter these memorial flowers upon this grave, which represents the graves of all who died in the sacred cause of our country. Our floral tribute shall wither. Lest ne tender fraternal love for which it stands endure until the touch of death shall chill the warm pulsebeats of our hearts.

The second comrade placed a bouquet upon tender fraterian love for which it steads endure beats of our hearts.

The second comrade placed a bouquet upon another grave with the words:

Comrades, by this services, without distinction of race or creed, we renew our pledge to exercise a spirit of fraternity among ourselves, of charity to the destitute wards of the Grand Army, and of loyality to the heauthority and union of the United States of America and to our glorious flag, under whose folds every Union soldier's or sailor's grave is the altar of pairiotism.

The ranks were broken, and the bestrewing of flowers began. The prave of every known comrade received a floral tribute, the location of each being known, for the Grand Army General Committee keeps an accurate record of the whereabouts of its dead. The graves of the unknown dead were lovingly looked after by the patriotic women of the several Relief Corps.

When the work had been concluded, the commands were re-formed, and the Arsenal Band struck up "America," and Ramson Post Glee Club led the grand assembly in singing the national hymn. A saiute of three guns by the U. S. Artillery announced the conclusion of Memorial Day.

The proceedings were witnessed by an immense crowd, and passed off in a reverent and deconcus manner. Many lingered among the graves or about the reservation, and it was fully night-fall before the last visitor had departed.

dorsed by Labor.

The Trades and Labor Union at their last regular meeting indorsed the bill now pending before the National House of Representatives to exempt improvements on real estate in the District of Columbia from taxation and to assess land at its full market value. The resolutions adopted by the local union recited that the trades and labor unions of the District of Columbia had indorsed the measure as tending to stimulate improvements, to increase the opportunities for employment, to reduce the taxation of home owners, and to increase the taxation of home owners, and to increase the taxation of home owners of valuable lots, to reduce the profits of land speculators and to prevent the monopoly of vacant property. The last resolution requested the representatives of Missouri in the Senate and House to support the measure officially known as House bill 319.

Judge Morris Gives Him the Limit of the Law.

WATCHING OF WOMEN BY PRIVATE DE-TECTIVES DISCOURAGED.

n Attempt to Prove That Allen Was Forced Into a Confession That He Had Written the Letters to Mrs. Ponath Fails-Judge Morris' Lecture-Police mew, was trie in the First District Police ourt this more ng on a charge of disturbing the peace, and ras fined $500.

He is the man arrested by Detectives Smith and Allender, het Thursday, for sending let-ters to Mrs. E.H. Ponath, wife of a wellknown real estate agent, to induce her to meet him at a rouse of ill fame. Col. John I. Martin represented the defendant in court and Mr. Dempsey and City Attorney Butler

Th efirst witness examined was Mrs. E. H. Ponath. She said that she had never seen the defendant until she saw him in court when this case was first called. She receive two letters at her house, 2636 Chestnut street, last Wednesday. At this point Col. Martin last Wednesday. At this point Col. Martin objected to the evidence on the ground that his client was charged with disturbing the peace and as he was not present when the letters were received the evidence on that point was irrelevant, but Judge Morris overruled the objection. The witness said the letters were delivered at her house, or rather her father's house, by a messenger how.

Two letters were exhibited to the witness and identified by her as the two received from the messenger boy. They were signed Wm. Adams, and were a request to Mrs. Ponath to meet him at 721 North Twenty-first street that night. The letters were published in the Post-Dysparch last Thursday.

In the Post-Diaparou last Thursday.

Detective Al ender then took the stand and testified that lien had admitted to him that he wrote the sters.

Mr. Martin len asked the witness if after arresting the defendant he didn't with his i irtner beat him in the face and expert from him a statement that he had written the letters.

with his i intner beat him in the face and ex ort from him a statement that he had written the letters.

Counsel for he city objected to the question and Mr. Markin changed the question. He asked where the defendant was arrested. Mr. Allender, answered on Thirtieth and Chestaut streets, and in answer to other questions, said that after arresting Adams, alias Allen, he and his partner, De scrive Smith, took him to 71 North Twen y-first street. On the way the witness pulls is a couple of letters from his pocket and showed them to Adams and asked him if a wrote them and Adams repled that he sid. The next question was in regard to the alleged beating of the defendant bribe detectives and it was now admitted. Mr. Allender said that their prisoner made an effort to give them the slip and they slapped him. Each of them gave him a couple of slaps. That was all there was to the beating. Witness testified that No. 721 North Twenty-first street was an assignation house. Mr. Martin thought it very strange that detectives should know of the existence of such a house in St. Louis and not endeavor to suppress it.

Before leaving the stand Mrs. Allender went over the whole ground of the arrest of Allen and the different conversations he had with him, and then Detective Veinle testified to the bad character of the house at 71 North Twenty-first street. Detective Smith then took the stand and his testimony was corroborative of that given by Mrs. Allender. The testimony of a couple of newspaper reporters was then taken to more thoroughly establish the fact of the defendant's confession to having written the letters.

that he had never seen adams until after his arrest last Thursday, and that he had not authorized him to write the letters. Mr.

nuthorized him to write the letters. Mr. Spore claims that he never said anything disrespectful about Mrs. Ponath to anyone, and that he does not know anything against her, and he cannot understand how his name came to be used in those letters.

Col. Martin had no evidence to offer in defense of his client, deeming it advisable not to give the prosecution an opportunity to cross-examine him.

Judge Morris gave Adams the maximum punishment provided by the law for a disturbance of the peace, namely, a fine of $500 and said that he was sorry that he could not make it heavier, as there was hardly any punishment too severe for a man who would resort to such despicable means to ruin a woman's character.

Broker Mullally Discharged.

Joseph J. Mullally, the stock broker charged by Patrick Madden with embezzlement, had inal Correction this morning. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney ecution was conducted by Attorney Thos. B. Rowe. Attorneys Chester Krum and Thos. Harvey represented the defense. Judge Claiborne, after hearing the arguments of both parties, held that the matter was merely a business transaction and there was no ground for criminal proceedings and discharged the defendant, Mulially was accused of embezzling sixty. Ave shares of Granite Mountain mining stock, which he had bought for Madden, but it was shown that he had given the latter his note for the stock, and that it had been accepted, making it merely a case of debt and not embezzlement.

A Fact.

It is an established fact that the only natural flavors in the market are Dr. Price's Delicious Flavoring Extracts. Each flavor is made from the true fruit, free from ethers, poisonous oils and strong, rank taste. They are natural flavors, obtained by a new process, which gives the most delicate and grateful taste. Insist on having Dr. Price's. Substitutes are often recommended because they afford a better profit.

HE TELLS OF THE LOSSES WHICH WILL OCCUR THROUGH THE CHANGE.

day Night Meeting, Leaving Him in a False Light-A Loss of $88,000 to the Board and Pupils if the New Books chool Director Walter McEntire created ensation at the School Board meeting ast Saturday night in the opening of his minute rule at a point which left many to believe he was opposed to the introduction of cheaper text books in the schools. He had before him a pile of figures and facts, which he was not given an opportunity to mention. This morning he said:

le. Without that amendment there would we been loss to the board and pupils of least $3,500, as you will see. If 000 pupils who have paid $1 each for their

make up this loss even though the new books are much cheaper than the old. Will the pupils make up the loss on their old books with the difference in price of the new? If the loss is not made up before the children now attending school have gone through their studies, they will be the losers and the benefit will only be derived by those who come in after the new books are adopted."

"Then there is another objection to the action of the board on this question. About 100 samples of the new text books have been submitted and no one has read them. That is a more important point, as there may be something in them which will prove to be decidedly objectionable. In treating the subject of the late war, for instance, there may be a prejudice expressed which would poison the mind of the pupil and prolong the memory of that unpleasant affair which which we are all so anxious to forget.

Charges Crookedness.

Hiram Phillips, one of the largest book ealers in the State, with headquarters at Columbia, is in the city. "I am out of the business now," said Mr. Phillips, "and I propose to stay out of it for awhile, at least. For several years I have supplied the State University with text books, but when the present law concerning the sale of school books was passed, the commission closed contracts with various publishing houses that are furnishing us with books that a customer will not have, and I sold out, being disgusted with the inferior stock that has been thrust upon us to handle. There was some crooked work in the awarding of those contracts, and if Supt. Wolf will tell all he knows about the matter the public will then learn why they have to pay nearly as much now for an inferior book as they did two years ago for a book that was salable. I see that the Post-Disparch has aired the matter pretty thoroughly, but there is another "nigger in the woodplie" and when he is run out some new developments will be brought to light. olumbia, is in the city. Title to Birmingham Residence Property in Litigation.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 80 .- The attorneys for the Timmons heirs, in the celebrated Timmons will case, will this week, it is anunced, bring suits for writs of ejectmen against all persons occupying lots on the 200-acre survey of Timmons' on south side of Birmingham. It is estimated that the land is now held by 500 different persons, who have from time to time purchased lots from the Elyton Land Co., which has for many years haid the title to the lands. The property in question extends from the railroad reservation, in the heart of Birmingham, to the top of the south highland. It includes pretty well all of fashionable Five Points. The land was obtained from the widow of Timmons, who, under the provisions of the will, is alleged to have had only a life interest. The law turned on the question of adverse possession by the Elyton Land Co., and the case came up several months ago in the United States Court. A jury awarded the plaintiffs forty acres of land and some $5,600 as rental. The Elyton Co. appealed the case, and it will come up in New Orleans next November. There were upwards of 200 recres of city property involved, but the verdict of the jury was in favor of but one-fifth of that territory going to the heirs.

The whole property is valued at between $2,000,000 and $8,000,000. The recent decision of the higher United States court practically settled the case, and the heirs determined to precipitate matters by bringing suit to eject all persons residing on the entire 200 acres in dispute. ald the title to the lands. CHICAGO, Ill., May 80.—The wreck of the Red Express, from St. Louis to Chicago, on the Santa Fe road, which occurred a mile and a half south of Lemont, a small quarry town about twenty miles from Chicago, last night, esulted in the instant killing of the engineer, W. The injured were conveyed to this city by a pecial train, arriving at 8 o'clock this morn ing. Mrs. Bissell and Mrs. Kilpatrick were aken to the Mercy Hospital. The others were removed to their homes by, the ambunces. Mrs. Quigley of St. Louis was left at the American House, Lemont.

It is stated by the passengers that at the time of the accident the train was running at high rate of speed to make up lost time At the point before mentioned the engine struck a cow and calf, which were on the track. The engine and tank jumped the track, and after running a short distance or the ties, rolled down the embankment into the Desplaines River. The baggage car was landed on its side; the smoker followed, breaking the coupling with the sleeper. The latter tumbled with fearful rapidity down into the river with the engine and tender. The panic and confusion which ensued made nore difficult the task of attending to the counded and of rescuing the occupants of he sleeper from their perilous position. The Santa Fe officials claim that the train was not running at an excessively high rate of speed and that the indirect cause of the hap was a sharp curve, which rendered inpossible to see the obstruction till too te to bring the train to a stand.

In the timber region in White bottom the wind and light played havoc. Where the ning played havoc. Where the bottom ends in the hill country southwest of Bradford the wind seemed to have met in a strip about 200 yards wide. It took a northeasterly course, crossing White River, and growing in violence as it sped along until it reached the town of Avergne. There it assumed the force of a small tornado. It struck the handsome new Methodist Church and leveled it to the ground. The Auvergne Academy, a beautiful building, was also blown down. The damage is considerable.

IN A SAD PLIGHT.

M. McLaughlin Ordered to Vacate His He ne While His Child Is Dying. aughlin, a newspaper carrier, to Laugh and Got Fat th his family, have resided for som gether th his family, have resided for some time pa at No. 1418 Blair avenue, the property bet aging to a Mrs. Hogan. Last week the property was sold and Mr. Mc-Laughilt was informed that he would have to reache, as the purchaser intended to occupy the residence. Owing to sickness in the family he put off moving, and the present purchaser has sued for possession, the papers foing served this morning by Constable famely. Mr. McLaughlin has secured affidavits from three reputable physicians stating that a 3-year-old son of McLaughlin's is dangerously ill and cannot be moved without endangering his life. Notwithstanding this fact, the purchaser wants immediate possession and the justice holds that McLaughlin will have to vacate, sickness not being recognized in the eyes of the law as a legitimate excuse for remaining in possession, and that if the matter can not be settled between owner and tenant, legal steps will be taken to have McLaughlin ousted. As a consequence Mr. McLaughlin is between rwo fires—if he moves it will likely result in the death of his boy, and if he don't vacate he will be ejected by the strong arm of the law.

"It's rainy weather, but we are together," said the Suit to the Overcoat. "Yes," answered the Overcoat, "you'd find it pretty hard to get along without me these cool mornings and evenings, and if you are going to the seaside or mountains 'I'm dead in line.'" "Don't hold your head so high," retorted the Suit; "I've seen days in August when you'd be left out of the game entirely. People don't want you when the thermometer registers 100 in the shade."

SORE THROATS.

Sore throat is the cause of more than half the trouble that comes from contagious diseases. The germs of these maladies such as scarlet fever, diphtheria, mumps, measles, smallpox and the like float in the air. They can be taken into the human system without danger, if they do not find an abraded surface. If they do, they enter the blood and swarm in millions. It is well known that diphtheria can be taken from a wound on the skin on the body. It is particularly noticeable that when such a malady as diphtheria rages it always attacks people after they have caught a slight cold. When you take cold, therefore, and your throat is sore get a bottle of REID'S GERMAN COUGH & KIDNEY CURE at once and take it freely. If your druggist will not order it for you write to us.
